Shining Stars

Oklahoma Campus Compact (OkCC) highlights exciting stories of civic engagement on member campuses. Let your institution's story be heard! Please send examples of civic engagement on your campus to jgeren@osrhe.edu or gwekke@osrhe.edu.

Redlands Community College, with funds awarded by OkCC, hosted a People Speak Forum and Hunger Breakfast on November 17, 2005 in connection with this year's United Nations Foundation topic on Poverty and Hunger. 125 community members, state leaders, RCC Board of Regents members, administrators, faculty, and students participated. Guest speakers included Seth Wispelway of Bread for the World, Father Paul Gallatin of St. Charles Borromeo Catholic Church's food campaign, Sally White with the Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma, Amy Radford, former RCC student and Goldwater Scholar, and Stephany Speck, current RCC political science student. Participants were given a red, white, or blue ribbon which allowed them a breakfast indicative of those who suffer from world hunger and depravity. The breakfast choices included a) one small bowl of white rice; b) one small bowl of white rice and one hard boiled egg; and c) a typical "American" breakfast of bacon, eggs, toast and juice. What an excellent way to communicate the message! Thank you Redlands for a thoughtful event.

Cameron University~ Professor Elizabeth Tilak. Professor Tilak uses service-learning in her Advance Graphic Design class. This semester students identified the lack of a unified identity as a community need in Lawton. Students designed a series of four posters/brochures that create a unified image for recreation, industry, culture/entertainment, and history in Lawton and the surrounding communities. Students are currently working with the Chamber of Commerce in hopes that the community will adopt their brochures as a way to create an attractive identity for the community they love. One student recently commented that this class was such a good experience because it combined “head knowledge with heart knowledge.”

National Conferences/Events

► Campus Compact is pleased to announce a partnership with the American Association of Colleges and Universities on their upcoming conference Diversity and Learning: A Defining Moment, October 19-21, 2006 in Philadelphia, PA.

The diversity education reform movement is at a critical crossroads. It is time to take stock of where we are and, even more urgently, to chart new pathways for our work. This is a defining moment to take leadership in educating all students to become inter-culturally proficient, deeply informed about the human and natural world, and empowered to achieve and act responsibly and with moral courage in a fast-changing, stratified, and globally interdependent environment. This is also a crucial moment to explore ways to collaborate with the civic engagement movement as we seek to educate students for full participation in our diverse democracy.

Campus Compact encourages members to attend this important meeting and to submit proposals to share their successful diversity, learning, and engagement initiatives. The call for proposals and additional conference information is available at:

<http://www.aacu-edu.org/meetings/diversityandlearning/DL2006/aboutcfp.cfm>

Please note that proposals are due Friday January 13, 2006.

► Save the Date: Community Service Director (CSD)/Service-Learning Director Professional Development Retreat, July 24-28, 2006 in Providence, RI. Four days of training for new community service and service-learning professionals!

Designed specifically for those in their first five years on the job, this retreat will provide must-have training and knowledge to boost the efficiency and effectiveness of service staff. This unique gathering will offer participants the chance to learn and understand key information and principles in service, service-learning, and higher education; and will allow you to discuss with experienced practitioners the critical questions and skills you need to be successful. For more information contact Pam Mustacio at pmutacio@compact.org.
